

Jean Watson to be Next on Lyceum Dec. 6th

Contralto To Sing Before Wartburg Audience

Heard ye! Heard ye! The next Lyceum on the evening of Dec. 6, 1943, will be Jean Watson, a contralto of rare beauty. Miss Watson sang her voice career at the University of Michigan and centralized at the Canadian Exhibitions.

This was the first public hearing of a voice which has since impressed some of the most discriminating critics in the United States and Canada who find in her that rarest of singer's slender, personal qualities, a voice of rare purity and phenomenal control quality.

Jean Watson attended the Toronto Conservatory of Music for several years. Her operatic debut was at the opening of the Canadian Grand Opera Association.

Then, in the spring of 1940, she made her first solo appearance in the United States as soloist at the internationally famous Bethel Music Festival, the most renowned festival, which draws its audience from all over this continent, even from abroad. It included Miss Watson as the "final" of the year. She found herself one of the most brilliant and of eminence and achievement. Engagements were plentiful and followed with further appearances with the New York Oratorio Society at Carnegie Hall, the Boston Symphony, the Boston Symphony, the Chicago Symphony, the Schubert Club of Schenectady, N. Y., the Cincinnati Bach Festival, the Philadelphia Bach Festival. Miss Watson has also sung at the "finals" of the Philharmonic Orchestra.

The New York Times has been quoted as saying, "She is a diva of a big diva, and she is not afraid to let it ring out brilliant and clear. Her voice, a dark, hair-lined singer has a voice of exceptional range, power and quality."

Dr. Neumann, with his son, "Bob," acting as narrator, will present in an fascinating manner poems written during three different periods.

Dr. Neumann is "Paul Revere of the Lowellites," "The Old Man and Jim" by J. W. Riley, "The Old Man's Prayer," and "Come Up Front" from the Picturesque and musical program background of the reading.

Plan to listen to the broadcast of the Armistice week. This will be WOI at 101 on Wednesday to hear this broadcast.

Miss Mayfield Wins Praise of Wartburg

"She's tops" is Wartburg opinion of Miss Anna Mayfield, new speech instructor. After a week of her teaching, Miss Mayfield has been anxious awaiting return engagements. To her great reader, Miss Mayfield had for audience a large number of students.

Miss Mayfield came from the University of Illinois, where she received her B. S. She was very much interested in the Wartburg speech program, and is very fond of writing plays, and is writing to study shorts.

Miss Mayfield likes to travel, and during the Christmas vacation expects to attend the National Convention of the International honorary fraternity of dramatic interpretation.

Curiosity Satisfied -- But Wonders Never Cease

(By Barbara Martin)

For the past year my curiosity has been mounting with leaps and bounds, and I have been unable to comprehend what the librarians next trip is going to be—or which series of books will be the next big—oh no—it's really something much more fascinating and interesting than any of the books I have been overwhelmed by, to put it mildly. I have little more than a few of the fairies and the like, but I have a few of the wonders that one of these miniature trunks contains.

After a few days in this overwhelming state, I stepped out one of the fairies of ladies and inquired as to the mysterious nature of the missing authors. And there, in what she drew from the deep folds of her purse, was a tiny, folded, printed letter that would have completely filled any large sized portion of the trunk. It was a single, three unmailed letters that were fully stamped and addressed, but had not been mailed. A smattering of bobby pins, a small, calligraphic program that had seen its better days—marked—a compact which seemed to be about

GOBLINS DON'T GET KNIGHTS DOWN AT PARTY

Turnout Good
In Spite of Rainy Weather

If you have been wondering why Rudy Martens (New York is most of us!) has acquired the name of the "Fire Watcher"—cause he was a goblin at the party to be told! Rudy was the faithful caretaker of the candles which lit up the hall for the annual Halloween party last Saturday night.

The lanterns—glittering in the dim-darkened "corn-field" were the first touch for a scene that seemed complete even to corn shocks and autumn leaves on the floor. Each Shady Hollow Lowell was where you came from (you came from). Georgie of the "G" was there, too, trying to make the goblins in the pumpkins look something like two eyes, and the "Knights" who they aren't supposed to look human. (George!)

The party started the evening's fun with seven numbers that really put the gang in the "group" mood. The first was the entrance of "Doe" Hertel with the latest thing in costumes—a pair of "that's the real spirit."

The automobile race was probably the most popular feature of the evening—with several of the "knights" who were up on the floor after those who had been Wartburg boys. Quartet made their appearance during the year, and one member, Mrs. Hertel, gave an interpretation of a popular song.

Miss Mayfield made her debut before the student body with two very good performances. Judging from the enthusiastic response of the Wartburgers, she is really going to be a hit.

Many of those attending came in costume, with everything representing the Wartburgers, Fraternalism, and Daisy Mae to top it off. Sir Walter Raleigh, The Peter Pan, and the Queen of Sheba, the boy in the way of gowns, and even Charlie Haasfer, who was the costume committee with his party's costume.

The attendance was very good, and the refreshments, the refreshments! Apples, chocolates, and cookies spelled a delicious finale to a grand evening.

Merrill Koenig, Wartburg's only returning letterman, will be one of the main stays on this year's team. The last two years he was the third highest scorer last year, and should be even better this year. He was an outstanding athlete in high school where he was the top point-scorer in the state. Forney five during his senior year. He has been playing basketball since he was a boy, and probably will be able to play in all the games. He has been a member of the Chicago Cubs and may return this spring and play again.

Former Basketball Player

Robert Muller is one of the first players to return to the team to lead the states. Peter left school at the end of the summer to go to the University of Michigan. He went to Fort Sill, Okla., from where he was sent directly to New York to play for former Forney baseball stars in Africa for two years. He then went to Sicily over to Sicily. He writes from Sicily that he is getting along well. He is getting along "okay" despite the fact that he has been away from home for two months and hasn't received a bit of mail.

Muller played a little basketball in college and attended many high school basketball games in his vacation. His basketball career, however, was baseball. He has been playing baseball again with the Pittsburgh Pirates as soon as the war is over!

Most of the nation's sports columns are still concerned chiefly with football, but it won't be long until the gridiron sport will be out and the king of winter sports, basketball, will be in. Most of the Iowa Conference Schools are getting off to an early start, and their prospects are for another fine year of Conference competition.

Doe Hertel has had his small squad of hopefuls drilling for three weeks and a definite improvement has been shown. The boys have been working on their basketball eyes and are gradually getting accustomed to the style of play. (One thing is sure—the Knights won't sit around and listen to long lectures on how Notre Dame beat Army in '11, etc.) Doe is really putting them through the paces and they should be ready to meet all comers when the season opens.

A winning basketball team doesn't necessarily depend upon the individual team members. Every Wartburger would like to see a winning team this fall. What are you going to do about it? It's too early to start thinking about school spirit in connection with basketball, but a little school spirit can be had. The winter is the time to start. A lot can be said about school spirit but it's kind of hard to define. Have you ever stopped to think just what "Behind the Varsity" really means? When the Varsity basket ball season is over, the power doesn't it give you the impression that you had a great big victory—or loss—whatever the case may be? After all, the varsity is Wartburg and Wartburg is the student body.

It's time to attend every home game this season. It'll give you a chance to see some of that school spirit. The band has been working on some new numbers for what will be the Pep Club? Why not get organized now, and then everybody will be ready to go "all out for victory" when the Hertelites take the floor for their first home game.

That means that the Wartburgers will have a place in basketball! The spirit is there, if the students will only take an interest in the team and really get out and back it. Most of last year's stars are gone but all of the other schools were hit just as hard by draft losses. Two years ago we had a powerful basketball team, last year it was football. Now it's the basketball boys that will have to give us some victories.

Odds and Ends.

Enka Vista has only one squad man back but several promising freshmen brighten the picture. (Note from Register.)

Luther, last year's basketball champs, lost a football game to the Cornell eleven 27-0 last Saturday. The Norwegians played an intersquad game for their homecoming, however.

Penn and Parsons managed to scrape up enough men to organize sixman football teams. The two southern Iowa schools played each other for their respective homecomings.

Dubuque has a Navy unit on its campus this year, but regular football and basketball games are being put off before the Knights handle with them. The Knights will play the team at St. Olaf—another possible Knight opponent—but the Knights changed its mind and the cads will stay in Northfield until next June.

The Hotelmen will play Ellsworth Jr. College again this year. The locals will be year 40-31 in the season opener. Little Benny Emerts pounced in eighteen points that night but he's an army chaplain now and somebody else will have to take over the scoring job.

The boys may journey north over Thanksgiving to play against the Minneapolis and Clintonville Teachers, but if they don't, the first game will be played here with the 91st General Hospital team on November 30.

I guess this column is getting long enough, so we'd better stop. We'd like to bring you some more information after the Conference meeting at Des Moines next week. This semi-annual confab brings together all the coaches and a definite schedule will be available at that time. Doe Hertel is President of the loop.

"Baldy" Makes Good

A year ago Baldy Allen led Wartburg to a 7-0 Conference victory over Etsena. This year he is the regular right halfback at that position. Last week against Notre Dame, he scored two touchdowns and also displayed his talents as the Fighting Knights' fullback. He is the nation's No. 1 football team. We're glad to see you in there, Baldy. More power to you!

Judge Cudmann, the Wartburg pumpkin hero of 1940, is back again this year for West Michigan. He has been in one of the armed services since the war began. He is one of the best all-around basketball players that Wartburg has ever had. He played basketball for Wartburg last year and was named as an All-Conference fullback. He has been a member of the team all year and scored the only touchdown against the Iowa University of Michigan team.

KNIGHT SQUAD ARRANGES '43-'44 SCHEDULE

Four more games have been added to the 1943-1944 Wartburg basketball schedule. This makes it to be one of the longest schedules in the history of the school.

The 91st General Hospital, a service unit which has been scheduled as the first game according to Coach Hertel, has been replaced by the 90th General Hospital, a service unit which has been scheduled with Loras and one non-conference game is to be played.

The conference schools, Buena Vista, Western Union, Gustavus Adolphus, and the 90th General Hospital, will be the other conference games will probably be scheduled.
